Nazis At the National Press Club!

NPI TO HOLD WHITE SUPREMACIST EVENT ON FRIDAY FEBRUARY 27, 2015, 6PM-9PM AT THE NATIONAL PRESS CLUB

Back in 2011, we reported on a white supremacist event at the National Press club held by Richard Spencer of the National Policy Institute.

From that event we were able to obtain and upload the strategy handout from the event called “Why the GOP Must Win White America”

NPI is a white supremacist group who tries to mask themselves as wonky policy group. Simple searches on Google on the group, Richard Spencer and his speaker line up (Jared Taylor, Peter Brimlow and Paul Gottfried) will bring up a plethora of articles and information on exactly who and what they are.

We find their using the National Press Club as a venue disturbing and it makes us wonder if the National Press Club knows who NPI really is.

The Press Club needs to know that Nazis are using their space as a venue!

NOTE: WHEN CONTACTING THE PRESS CLUB YOU WILL BE POLITE AND PROFESSIONAL!

The National Press Club

529 14th St. NW, 13th Floor

Washington, DC 20045

We want to make the Press Club aware, do not say or infer anything that will be rude or threatening!

Matt Parrott's Desperate Plea for Recognition

Matt Parrott at Leif Ericson Day in Philly

If you enjoyed our dissection of Michael Hill's rambling, strap in— because we've got a new specimen on the slab!

In what can only be described as a Robitussin-influenced slide into dissociative paranoia, Matt Parrot banged the cheetos dust out of his keyboard and posted the resulting word salad.

Within the first few months of public White Advocacy, I started receiving death threats on my phone number, 317-324-8282 and at my parrott.matt@gmail.com email address.

“Do you see what I did there? I hope it wasn't too subtle for you. You see, I'm incredibly intelligent and am the brains behind this outfit, so I know that if I put my contact information in public view and I get harassed for innocently supporting reconstituted Romanian death squads, I'll be the tough he-man I think I am! And if no one takes the bait and treats me like the inconsequential do-nothing neckbearded brony that I really am, I can still claim complete and total Aryan victory over the hordes of judeobolshevik assassins! So don't even think about it! Don't even THINK about calling me! I'm not starved for human contact! I'm not fed up with listening to Tom Buhls breathe through his mouth day in and day out, I'm not having separation anxiety stemming from my inability to continue running my fingers through Heimbach's crumb-infested lunatic beard! No! How foolish. But seriously, call me."

I was repeatedly threatened with being "doxxed", so I was careful to conceal my [redacted, at girlfriend's request] social security number.

We saw the SSN you posted, and given that Chinese and Russian bots have reached extreme levels of efficiency at trawling the internet for numbers that adhere to the AAA-GG-SSSS numbering scheme, it's far more likely that you received several angry phone calls from your banks and credit card companies than you did from any "girlfriend."

My employers were repeatedly pestered by the SPLC and others,

"I have to invent things now, because the crippling reality is that I'm unemployable due to my numerous severe antisocial personality disorders. The fact that my previous employers received calls from people concerned that they were employing a person who advocates mass genocide and goon squads was just a convenient way out for them to sack me, since I was never really any good at my job to begin with."

which led to my current arrangement of being a long-haul trucker

"I'm a real workin' man, bein' held down by the filthy jew rats and their negroid assassination squads! Really! Instead of being a lonely geek in a trailer park, I'm a lone knight of the highways, hauling trailers! Yeah! That's the ticket!"

who performs freelance computer consulting work in my mobile office. It's rudimentary to take my CDL to a different outfit if this one cans me, and most of my freelance clients couldn't care less if I were an ax murderer, as long as I deliver solid code.

You're obviously not a union trucker, otherwise you'd have set on and off times, so it's difficult to determine when exactly you're shoehorning-in this "coding work" between driving all day and night and catching whatever sleep you can in your cab, considering hunting for one single dropped comma can take several hours. And I'm agog that there are clients anywhere who care more that the code is solid than if it's on time. So, if you are doing actual coding and not, say, farting around in Joomla or WordPress like every other phony "internet professional" actually does, the only logical way you could be achieving this level of output is through the typical white nationalist outlet of amphetamine abuse. Speed-induced paranoia actually might explain the rest of this rambling diatribe, so I might not be too far off the mark.

I would offer my home address, but I live in my truck, so I don't really have one to offer.

Well, that's courageous— admitting that you're homeless. Or you're not actually serious about being mister macho internet tough guy. Or you're just avoiding the inevitable embarrassment that will come when people find out the true nature of the squalor you live in.

The heckler's veto which the Internet's anonymity provides has resulted in a profound chilling effect on public discourse,

"And I know a thing or two about stifling free speech and chilling effects on public discourse, since I like to show up at talks by Tim Wise with signs that advocate a return to lynching. That's not to mention my other unemployable freaks who have a bizarre attraction for a dead Romanian fascist."

and has steadily grown from a childish prank phone call stunt targeting toxic extremists like yours truly

Only in your most fevered DXM hallucinations would anyone consider you a “toxic extremist.” You’re more like the “day old can of half-eaten spaghetti-o’s” of the far right than anything else. Von Bluvens commanded a far more loyal following than you ever will.

to this obnoxiously familiar canard peppering every major public political brawl. With the recent #gamergate hassle, “Look! I am current and topical! I’m going to reference something that happened on the internet as a way of staying relevant!”

This is the point in the rant where everything starts to fall apart. Matt– the trilby-wearing, MRA brony– will now attempt to link his own inadequacy to a Gordian Knot of vitriol, as if defending his love of Applejack was essential to the broader white supremacist scene. Let’s watch!

each side eagerly served up death threats and eagerly presented the death threats as a farcical sort of digital badge of courage that they were supposedly risking their lives for feminism or social justice or whatever.

Having a bit of a morbid sense of humor, I was especially amused by a call a few years ago purporting to be from right outside my apartment,

And that's it for attempting to make that pop culture reference mean anything. Matt would rather you completely forgot that.

threatening my imminent death and the imminent rape of my dog.

Dog rape? Does this come from the same part of the neo-nazi brain that invents the mythical "bags of urine" that magically appear and disappear without a trace at every mobilization against white supremacists? Steeping yourself in a rigidly authoritarian, sadomasochistic society –like your Romanian death-cult fetishism– where you're unable to conduct healthy explorations into your sexual wellbeing makes your personality come out sideways.

I didn't even own a dog, though my family's Teacup Pomeranians which I'm very partial to were most likely never in any meaningful danger. I helped organize a Shadow Conference for would-be AmRen attendees

"I'm useful! I did something! Where's my banana sticker?!"

the year that Daryl Lamont Jenkins "anonymously" threatened to corrupt the morals of the hotel manager's dog, and I was in more danger on the public bus ride to the previous year's AmRen then I was directly defying the fearsome legion of anonymous assassins.

There's that bestiality manifesting itself again. C'mon, Matt.

...because no one even knew who you were until you had to practically shake them by the lapels and beg someone— anyone— to punish you like the naughty little boy you think you are? I get it. You're acting out because your life is changing in ways you have little control over, and you're demanding that the universe give you something tangible that's familiar so you can have a semblance of emotional stability. Sure, your world might be crumbling around you, but as long as you have one constant factor that you can touch on –your security blanket of externally manifested self-hatred, for example– you don't actually have to face your worst fears and grow as a human. Or maybe it's something more prosaic, like the fact that your acolyte Heimbach is now gallivanting all over the US and Europe with his new wife and A3P's bank account behind him and you are stuck in Indiana, alone with your My Little Pony dolls, driving a truck and waxing poetic on a blog no one reads about your glory days when you mattered just enough for someone to want to send a death threat to you.

It's all bullshit, and I'm glad that this latest tiff between Sony Pictures and the Democratic People's Republic of North Korea has elevated the bullshit to the point where this micro-terrorism can officially jump the shark and people can stop taking it seriously.

LOL WAT. What the everlovin' HELL does this have to do with anything else in this disjointed hodgepodge of words and letters?

For someone who adheres to an ideology of terrorizing non-whites, he surely has no grasp of the nature of terrorism. This isn't a film trope or a bad sitcom— terrorism does not “jump the shark” and real human interaction rarely bears any resemblance to poorly-written Hollywood scripts.

It's not serious. I suppose, in theory, that some day, somewhere, somebody's death threat or bomb threat could actually result in a death. But even then, for God's sake, is the statistically insignificant potential of death really worth handing over your very agency to speak your mind in public?

“That whole “boy who cried wolf” thing? The boy obviously had the right idea. So what if I've only read half of the story?!”

And if you're that cowardly, should you really be dabbling in public life to begin with?

I wonder to whom precisely Matt is directing this question. I'm sensing a gnawing doubt in Matt's subconscious that's bugging him more and more— ‘maybe throwing in my lot with a bunch of fascists who want to reenact the Bucharest Pogrom and hang the corpses of Jews from meathooks wasn't the best life choice I could make.’ Or, ‘maybe having to justify my behavior by inventing death threats and physical assault isn't a healthy way to exist.’ Or even ‘maybe Heimbach's staging that photo of him attacking someone with a wooden crucifix is a sign that he's more of a danger to himself and the people in his immediate social circle than he will ever be as an activist.’

I helped organize the Shadow Conference for would-be AmRen attendees, “Me! Me! I'm significant! I matter! I'm so significant and I matter SO MUCH that I had death threats made against my dog!”

and one of the topics of discussion at that event was how this whole “death threat/bomb threat” phenomenon amounts to a crowd panic fad which people will eventually grow past. People will eventually learn to quietly and calmly file a police report about the threatening communications and go about their business, resisting the urge to publicize the threat. People who shriek about having received death threats will be socially shamed for cowardice and attention-seeking,

Really, all you did in this piece was harp about how much of a stoic manly man you are and how all of those death threats you allegedly received don't bother you. Now you're doing a complete 180 and are begging to be shamed for publicly whining about receiving death threats. Like you're being shamed right now. Oh no! We've fallen into your completely subtle and well-orchestrated plot to provide you with the public humiliation your damaged subconscious so earnestly hungers for! CURSES! Well... OK then. You're a cowardly attention seeker who should be ashamed of their behavior. Happy now?

and the increasingly popular phenomenon of faking these threats to receive attention will further cloud matters.

So the next time you claim to have received a death threat, we can immediately dismiss it as being a fake. That's helpful.

Even if the threats were entirely legitimate and death were imminent, it would still be necessary and appropriate to plug forward. The alternative is a world where nobody says anything that anybody disagrees with, where everybody cowers in constant fear of crowd-sourced Anonymous Assassins achieving a 1984-style dystopian control on public discourse.

Gosh, it's almost like a lot of people don't approve of white supremacists. But that's ok, all you have to do is slap on some blinders and ignore those know-nothing haters and you won't have to face any public scrutiny of your antisocial behavior. Well, that's not entirely true— you'll still have to face it, but with some effort you can just as easily imagine none of it is happening.

I'd really rather be dead than live in the kind of world we'll end up in if we don't all develop the habit of ignoring and dismissing death threats, bomb threats, and doxxing threats.

"I'd rather die than someone believe I received a death threat."

I like the anonymity that the Deep Web provides, and it's here to stay.

"I was really bummed when Silkroad went down, because now I have to get my Vyvanse, Adderall and Dextromethorphan like a filthy peasant and the local high school kids don't take bitcoin!"

But it's going to require our culture to catch up with the technology, namely a new normal where a blogger casually chuckles "Bring it!" when somebody dials his cell and threatens to kill him to death with a machete.

"Kill him to death?" If your "code" is as good as your writing, I'm shocked you get any work at all.

CLOWN MEAT

It tastes funny.

Festival of Hate

The title “European American Heritage Festival” appears so innocent. One would picture snack bars with Belgium waffles, or Fish and Chips, a maypole, maybe a quartet playing Mozart or Bach, but the last thing anyone would picture in their mind would be the Ku Klux Klan. Yes, once again in Pulaski Tennessee, the birth place of the KKK, this event is going to happen on October 25, 2014.

This is not the first year, this event has gone on for many years.

In looking at the sponsorship lineup it reads like a whose who of hate.

<http://www.europeanamericanheritagefestival.com/>

THE SPONSORS:

Thomas Robb

Christian Revival Center– Again, looks pretty innocent, or at least like an ordinary church, but with some digging it is discovered that this “church” is run by a Thomas Robb who is described by the Southern Poverty Law Center as an “Arkansas-based Christian Identity pastor and head of the Knights of the Ku Klux Klan” they also go on to state that he was a replacement for David Duke. He also seems to be the organization behind this event.

The Barnes Review and The American Free Press – We are putting these together because they are both rooted with the old and long time white nationalist Willis Carto as well as the Council of Conservative Citizens in the metro DC area.

Voice of Reason Radio Network – a racist podcast radio line up that nobody in the world of anti-racism has ever paid any attention to, hence we could not find any write up about them. We did, however find this write up on it’s orientation from the white nationalist version of wikipedia called “medapedia” there you can read about it’s history of white power drama and all the white nationalist thugs who are tied to it.

The Knights Party – if you click on the link for this sponsor the url says “KKK.bz” and that pretty much sums it up, what more can we say??? If you are really interested in more info the SPLC once again has the information

Canadian Association for Free Speech– “CAFE” is the brainchild of Canadian neo-Nazi Paul Fromm, we will go more into Fromm and who and what he is in a future article.

Caste Football – Well we found a Maddow video to describe this one Rachel Maddow "crazy racist nonsense" Caste Foot...

Heritage Connection— Remember “Prussian Blue,” the nazi-pop group project starring April Gaede’s daughters Lamb and Lynx? Well, it turns out they discovered marijuana and now want nothing to do with the horrible, unhinged racism of their mom. Don’t worry, Heritage Connection is your new Prussian Blue knock-off, right down to the fact that Charity and Shelby Pendergraft are the granddaughters of the aforementioned Thomas Robb. Here’s the SPLC again:

The Pendergraft sisters have not yet received the media attention that the Gaede bunch drew in their heyday, but they claim to have performed at white nationalist events nationwide since they formed Heritage Connection in 2003. They’ve also released two CDs, “Aryan Awakening” and “Standing Our Ground,” and have shared the stage with a guitar-playing Derek Black, best known for his father’s racist Stormfront.org Web forum and the brouhaha that followed Derek’s election to the Palm Beach County, Fla., Republican Executive Committee.

Heritage Connection

Nationalist Times– The vanity project of American Nationalist Union honcho Don Wassall. He has since folded the ANU into the American Third Position party.

The Political Cesspool– Racist radio show, produced by the equally racist James Edwards.

Stormfront– We don't need to say much about this one. Suffice to say, if Stormfront is on your sponsor list, there's no way you can wriggle your way out of accusations that you're dirty. It was founded by former KKK leader Don Black.

Dr. Tomislav Sunic (author)– Tom Sunic is a Croatian neo-nazi and former professor who now makes his living globe trotting and peddling his Fascist ideals at from speaking fees he collects from groups like the Council of Conservative Citizens, KKK, American Freedom Party, The Pacifica Forum (holocaust deniers, not the radio network) and the League of the South. When in the US, he likes to stay at the home of– you guessed it– Thomas Robb.

neo-Nazi Tom Sunic with former KKK leader David Duke

Paul Fromm— Acting media contact. We'll delve further into him in a later article.

Michael Hill's Asinine Speech

Gather 'round, folks, it's time for another dissection of a hilariously awful speech! This time, it's from "Doctor" J. Michael Hill of the League of The South. He addressed his fellow LOSers on June 28th, 2014.

Keynote speech, "Dr" Michael Hill, President, League of the South, 28 June 2014:

Doctor? Jeez, every right-winger from Laura Schlessinger to Michael Savage is a “doctor” nowadays. Unfortunately for them, it’s usually in things like “gym class” or “underwater basketweaving,” and for someone who appends “doctor” to their name at every opportunity, I can’t actually find out what Hill has a doctorate in. No one, from the SPLC to dixienet themselves give any hint as to what this mysterious “doctorate” refers to— it’s as if he wasn’t proud of it or he’s lying. The more extreme the right-wing group gets, the more flowery and ridiculous these invented titles become— like “commander” Jeff Schoep of the NSM or “imperial wizard” Richard Green of the KKK— both groups, I should add, share members with the League of the South. So for now, let’s call him “doctor” Michael Hill, just like “Doctor” John Zoidberg.

ENJOY IT WHILE YOU CAN . . .

Congratulations, Leftists, you have won.

Hey! Thanks! We accept your surrender! Wait, this isn’t really a surrender document, is it? It’s going to be another “too long; didn’t read” screed of whining, crybaby namecalling and petulant tentrums excreted by someone who has the emotional maturity of a two-year old coming down from a sugar high.

You have taken over the West and now your worldview is triumphant. Europe, America, and the other former lands of Christendom lie in your grasp. The Age of Enlightened Utopia has arrived.

For someone who was a history professor at Stillman, you’d think they’d know that the Age of Enlightenment happened three hundred years ago and the horrible awful terrible very bad no good products of that era were things like the United States of America and the Constitution, but maybe this is why he’s a former professor.

So, congratulations, Leftists, you have won.

Again with the surrender! You don't need to make a big speech, just accept defeat like a "nobleman" would and quit whining like a spoiled child.

But what is it that you have won? You have made White gentiles, particularly Christians, afraid and ashamed to stand up for their God and thus for the civilization with which He blessed them.

And we're supposed to expect any sort of rational discourse from someone who exhibits ideological parity with babbling madmen who fervently believe the earth was created six thousand years ago?

Quite a feat, really, considering there was a time when Christian men would actually fight for their patrimony and declare it good. But not these modern "men" — clergy included, sadly — who

So, by extension, "Doctor" Michael Hill's definition of a "man" is someone who actively seeks to exterminate or enslave everyone who is of a different faith. There are a number of such well-armed "men" who are currently in the Levant, doing precisely what "Doctor" Michael Hill claims to be the paragon of manliness, so let's see him drop everything to court ISIL. His standards, not mine, after all.

whimper and moan their mea culpas on cue about all the wrongs of which they have been charged by the Left: racism, sexism, homophobia, xenophobia, anti-Semitism, etc., etc.

Hey, if you rape children, the least you could do is apologize for it.

Now, thanks to your victory, these are no limits on what a man — or surely a woman — may be or become. Be trans-gendered and marry your pet! The bursting of the bonds of narrow Christian limitations is manifest in a thousand new human rights discovered every day in the unfettered Leftist imagination!

But no longer in Alabama, where Hill makes his home. Yes, Alabama finally decided to exit the stone age and made bestiality a misdemeanor crime in January of 2014.

Well, where's the problem in that? Oh, I remember, you take issue with the general consensus among mainstream Christianity that human beings shouldn't be treated like appliances or draft animals. Obviously, if the majority of human life on this planet begins to move away from the idea that some human beings should be bought and sold like used tires, there MUST be an evil, atheistic satanic conspiracy at work! You clearly believe there is something inherently wrong and dangerous with the concept of behaving in a decent manner to people who don't exhibit carbon copies of your ideology, and that itself is worrying. But the beauty of this whole kooky "compassion" thing that some stinkin', bearded, sandal-wearing hippie commie jew named Jesus of Nazareth (and a whole lot of other people) talked about is that if you extend compassion to others, that act melts their hatred. So maybe you just need a hug. Or a swift kick in the britches. Either way, get over yourself.

And we silly traditionalists thought those Universal Human Rights were going to end with the civil rights movement to give the darker races equality.

"Oh! Curses! We were so stupid! We thought that once th' darkies got desegregation, they'd just go back to living like feral dogs under a freeway! It completely befuddled our dogma-addled brains that they'd want to CONTINUE to be treated like human beings!”

You have told us that all men, and all cultures, are equal.

Yes, under the law, they are. That’s the whole point of “equal rights.” It’s not to “take away” your rights, but to put it into law that certain traditions –like hunting black people for sport and the aforementioned bestiality– are no longer legally permissible acts. It’s the force of law that’s stating one person has no legal rights to dehumanize another person or a group of people. Perhaps, if you were operating under the assumption that it was your “god-given right” to enslave people, you might see this as somehow infringing on those “rights,” but one of the central tenets of the Christianity you claim to believe in is exactly that– “no one” has those rights.

Or at least men have been forced to say they believe that they are. Procrustes has nothing on you!

So, you’re comparing being legally restricted from owning another human being to the Greek bandit who broke limbs in order to make his victims fit the shape of an iron bed? This is a joke, right?

And once a man convinces himself of the rightness and goodness —and the necessity — of Equality, he will then lay down everything he values on that altar. Even to the point of destroying the future for his children and grandchildren to prove how enlightened he is. Otherwise, he could lose his job and starve to death, along with his family.

Eh?

Again, the hypocrisy of right-wingers laid bare: It’s not the fault of the meth-smoking buffoon who scrawls racist graffiti on a school, but the “nasty leftists” who made it illegal for him to do it. It’s not “his” fault he loses his job, but it’s the fault of the “nasty leftists” who made him unemployable. It’s not “his” fault that no one wants to hire an ex-felon drug addict, but the “nasty leftists” who make people feel “bad” about having someone like that on their staff. Why, just think about all of the potential brain surgeons, quantum physicists and mathematicians currently languishing in federal prison because the “nasty leftists” put them there for the trivial offense of lynching some uppity colored folks. IT MUST BE A CONSPIRACY!

In your quest for Equality, you victorious Leftists have made it manifest in the material world. It’s not good enough to keep it in slogans — “All men are created equal.” No, it must be brought down to the material world in the form of the franchise and swag . . . and sometimes even jobs (but really cushy ones from which the unqualified employee cannot be terminated).

That horrible “All Men Are Created Equal” line was penned by Thomas Jefferson— a true son of the south. It must be an evil leftist conspiracy that keeps the aforementioned particle physicists out of that rinky-dink know-nothing “University of Virginia” that he founded too, right?

And because you don’t believe in God or sin, you have convinced the rest of us that all evil is external to man himself and can be eradicated by the right sort of education and social programs.

“Yeah! Bring back the old ways of public executions and lynchings! We swear we’re not a hate group, but it’s sure convenient that all black people are guilty of every single crime they’re accused of! That’ll show the world how civilized we are!”

So we now have the modern, post-Christian education system in all its eloquent glory – Common Core, here we come!

“Blah blah blah buzzword to show I’m not an illiterate oaf who can’t read a newspaper”

Moreover, we have the omnipotent, omniscient, and omnipresent Caesar/God-on-the-Potomac and its counterpart in Brussels to give us our daily bread (and other “free” stuff). Never mind that they are financially bankrupt . . .

“Blah blah blah death of the west, blah blah blah the west is decadent, blah blah blah same shit Julius Evola farted out over seventy years ago”

Speaking of all that prosperity that somehow just magically appeared (you didn’t do that yourself, as Obama reminded us)

And where did the prosperity that the antebellum south enjoyed spring up from? Oh, right! Slavery! Hey, we really ought to listen to you, since you’re clearly an expert on how prosperity materializes out of thin air.

in all those White Christian countries, you have convinced the non-White, Third World that it deserves a share of it all. Hence, you have set a devouring Free Shit Army on a worldwide march,

It’s really quite amusing when someone with absolutely zero understanding of the complex nature of global capitalism starts flapping their gums about things they apparently have no hope of being able to wrap their feeble little brains around. Migrations from poor areas to wealthier areas has occurred for millenia. This isn’t a new thing: immigrants from poorer countries aren’t flocking to “your” cities of Berlin and Stockholm because of some bizarre, innate desire to wreck things, it’s because there are jobs in those places where none exist in the places where the migrants originate. I should also point out that the vast majority of immigrants to places like London and Berlin are actually coming from places like Ireland and Poland— which, if you’re a true student of history, you’d know that “true southerners” like the KKK considered the Irish and Poles to be on the same level as other non-whites. So “Doctor” Hill is probably speaking from the heart when he’s talking about those nasty foreigners sullyng his pure, aryan landscape— because in his drooling stupor, “Doctor” Hill doesn’t think that the Irish are white. Go figure.

destination London, Paris, Rome, Berlin, Stockholm, and all our hamlets, large and small, here in the New World.

“Our tiny little hamlets of New York and Atlanta and Dallas! Won’t someone think of these tiny little fishing villages populated by poor peasant farmers!”

You have given husky legs to Jean Raspail’s dystopian novel, Camp of the Saints, of the 1970s, just as I once told my university students that you would!

“See, I’m not a crabby, racist old man with a made up doctorate! I’m actually a PROPHET!”

You, O conquering Leftists, have Imagined!

Imagination is power! That’s why you have none!

And in doing so you’ve not only imagined away Heaven . . . and Hell, but borders as well.

I’d like to imagine away Hobby Lobby, too, but that ain’t happening...

We used to have those, and they denoted our nations’ political boundaries. To cross one without permission was an egregious violation that often led to death and war. But it also kept traditional men in their respective places, something you did not like. It gave us backward thinking Neanderthals something we could call “ours.”

Why don’t you go walk across the 38th parallel and tell me how illusory borders are. Are you really arguing for the expansion of war and bloodshed over arbitrary lines on a map? You know, “don’t cross this creek or else we’ll gut you like a fish?” How civilized.

So now that White countries are allowed no borders,

Ask Michael Savage about the “borderless” state of England. Those “nonexistent borders” are doing a pretty good job of keeping him and his hate speech out of Albion.

we have become little more than extended-stay motels (run of course by Indians) for the world. As the mantra says: Africa for Africans, Asia for Asians, and White Countries for everyone! We have no place to call our own anymore, and if we dare claim we do we are quickly put back in our place by the usual epithet: racist, xenophobic Nazi whowantstokillsixmillionjews!

“I’m not a racist and leftists like to slander everyone with the racist brush, but ALL EXTENDED STAY MOTELS ARE RUN BY INDIANS”

And we slink back to our diminished (and still diminishing) little corners.

With defeatist rhetoric like this, no wonder the south lost the civil war.

Oh, I could go on but what’s the use.

There’s an end to this interminable slog of dime-store words and hallucinatory paranoia? End it now!

We know what you've done to undermine our civilization. We know the plan.

"We broke into Secret Leftist World Headquarters and stole this book called "THE PLAN"!"

But there remain a couple of questions. To be truthful,

"To be truthful, because everything I've ever uttered up until this point has been a bald-faced lie..."

how are you going to explain to the teeming masses for whom you have presumably created this Brave New World that it's really not their interests that motivate you, but merely your own? And you will have to explain this selfishness when your promised Utopia fails to live up to its billing as Savior of the Downtrodden.

"See, that's the beauty of the political ideology of the League of the South— no explanations for anybody, least of all darkies and womenfolk! If they want an explanation as to why you're beating them, just beat 'em harder!"

And it is failing . . . and will eventually crash and burn.

"Blah blah blah more Julius Evola crap I think that will appeal to 'th' youth"

But that was the plan all along, wasn't it? It wasn't to make a better world for the poor and disadvantaged. They are just your do-gooder foil, the mask to hide the monster. It was to satiate your misanthropic hunger, because just beneath that sanctimonious visage you are a hater of all that is truly human. Yours is the Cloward-Piven strategy on steroids for the whole world!

"See, it's all very sneaky— we're going to stop the slave trade, make lynching illegal, end segregated bathrooms and integrate the schools, and THEN we're going to make it illegal to publicly execute homosexuals, and then we're going to feed the homeless, clothe the poor, heal the sick and end the scourge of various forms of infectious diseases! Then when they're all at a vastly higher standard of living, we're going to encourage international diplomacy to reduce the possibility of future wars, raise wages so the income disparity between rich and poor is diminished and encourage scientific and artistic endeavours throughout all aspects of society!"

"That doesn't sound very evil."

"It's not, but only delusional former professors with made-up doctorates and a chip on their shoulder the size of Gibraltar will think it's evil, so if we're pissing those freaks off, we've got to be doing SOMETHING right!"

Wealth, power, and position is your game. And your end goal is the same as it was in the Garden so long ago: The Serpent wants to replace God and rule humanity.

So it's evil to oppose slavery and lynching. Gotcha.

You are the Serpent's offspring, the children of the Father of Lies.

"And your hair looks stupid, and your clothes don't fit you, and you've got big feet, and you are a buttbrain, and you have dog breath, and..."

But you know you still have a prickly problem to face, right? Some of us will not recognize your “victory” as permanent. We will not go quietly into that night, to paraphrase one of our great poets.

Dylan Thomas? Sheesh, no WONDER you’re a FORMER professor. You claiming Dylan Thomas as one of “your” own is laughable. Dylan Thomas proclaimed himself to be a “radical socialist” and was schooled from 1933 onwards by preeminent Welsh Marxists. For all of your bitching and moaning about how “evil” it is to want to help people in need and how such “leftism” is the “devil’s work,” let’s see what else the man YOU just cited has to say:

“I take my stand with any revolutionary body that asserts it to be the right of all men to share, equally and impartially, every production of man... from the sources of production at man’s disposal”. Dylan Thomas, New Verse (1934).

Have you even read a single page of Dylan Thomas’ work? Maybe you’d like to revise this entire pile of gibberish to damn the man you claimed as one of your own as a demonic satanist instead of the paragon of whiteness you just so cravenly attempted to do.

We will bitterly cling to our God and our guns. We will fight back, and you know it.

“We will bravely beat our wives and abuse our children! We will heroically lynch non-whites! We will honorably brew meth in our bathrooms! We will chivalrously re-write history and appropriate individuals with political stances diametrically opposed to our own to server our narrow, racist, political fantasies!”

In fact, you knew all along that we — White men and women of European descent, the inheritors of Christendom — were your only real nemesis on this earth.

Our only nemeses are ignorance and greed, so if you’re claiming those, you’re welcome to ’em.

And you knew from the start what that meant if you were to achieve complete victory: you would have to eliminate us.

Jesus H. Tapdancing Christ, everything with you is steeped in this histrionic “genocide” narrative, isn’t it? “They’re out to KILL US!” “They want to put us into FEMA DEATH CAMPS” “The Muslim Kenyan is going to subject you to DEATH PANELS!” “White people are being GENOCIDED!” You’d think that a group like your own that has such a colorful history of perpetrating genocides would actually know what a genocide is, but then again, this is probably why you’re a FORMER professor.

But you were not sure you could pull it off, were you? It also made you feel a little creepy and hypocritical, didn’t it? I mean, after all the whining and moaning you have done (and still do) about past examples of genocide, you really had to make us believe you were the perpetual victims, even as you sharpened your blades to eviscerate us.

It’s “whining” to own to up trying to exterminate millions of people because they weren’t born with the right amount of melanin in their skin? The only people who have this little regard for humanity are sociopaths and serial killers. Which, if you’re seriously attempting to argue for legalizing lynching, you are one.

Well, some of us are on to you and your plans. We will no longer play the game on your turf and by your rules. We will no longer succumb to White Guilt. We are throwing off your shackles. We are rising in Europe and in America. We are nationalists—French, English, Scottish, German, Danish, Swedish, and Southern, among others—and our lands and our civilizations belong to us.

You’re not a “Nationalist” then, because the “south” wasn’t “yours.” You stole it from the indigenous people who were here centuries before you and then you imported people to do the work you yourselves were too “lazy” to do. This isn’t the talk of a nationalist, it’s the bellyaching of a disaffected old man who is incapable and unwilling to accept the fact that the world evolves. If anything, you’re a failed colonialist, a fusty, moth-eaten relic of a war wherein your entire world was burned to the ground. All you can do is perpetuate a death cult that deifies men. You couch your rhetoric in the “death” of this or the “death” of that, with “dead” leaders and “dead” men— but we are the ones who are alive, and it is John Brown who is still alive in all of us.

Your universalism is doomed. And so are you.

“And you’re stupid, and your mother dresses you funny, and you fart out of your butt, and you smell, and Jimmy thinks you’re a dork, and you wet the bed, and...”

So enjoy your little short-lived triumph

The way you put it, it’s been triumph after triumph for “leftists” since the beginning of the age of enlightenment, and if you consider three hundred years to be “short-lived” I think you’ve got some serious problems with your perception of time and reality.

before the breaking wave of nationalism washes you away.

When a wave breaks, it is at its apex of coherent power, and from that point it changes into poorly-defined kinetic energy. You state that the wave of nationalism is “breaking,” meaning that the wave has already begun to deform and lose power. It follows then that this wave will rapidly dissolve and recede back into the water, its energy completely spent. I think you probably intended to call it a “rising tide,” which would probably be less embarrassing for a “doctor”— and let’s be frank, you are from Alabama, so why you didn’t pick up on the “Crimson Tide” allusion is beyond me. Maybe you really don’t give a shit about the south at all.

Happy Fifth Anniversary, have some lulz!

This marks the fifth year of Lady Liberty’s Lamp, and we’re glad you’ve been with us for this long. We’re especially thankful to all of the hare-brained trolls who have provided us bucketloads of side-splitting laughs. So, for this landmark anniversary, let’s take a look at one of the funnier half-wits to darken our towels.

Say hello to Joe Alice Daves of Kirkland, Arizona. Joe believes he’s a “libertarian heathen” and has some very mean things to say about us! Let’s take a look at this stirring, erudite skewering of a few our posts. Or not. We’ll keep his spelling and formatting intact, for added flavor. If you’re wondering why paying attention to this nobody, we’re highlighting him as a typical Asatru Folk Assembly apologist— sure, the spelling might be a little different, but the arguments are the same. Almost as if they’re all reading off a script.

 libertarian heathen wisdomfromlibertarianheathen.blogspot.de/ x joedaves888@gmail.com 66.85.148.50	Submitted on 2014/06/01 at 5:45 am In reply to TheLibertyLamp. since the comment section has been shut done on both Asatru posts http://wisdomfromlibertarianheathen.blogspot.de/
Translation: I know the post is over a year old, but it took me this long to formulate a response the liberty lamp blog has to my knowledge done two posts on Steve and the AFA these are both filled with hate speech and ridiculous arguments against us.

Direct from his failure of a blog!

Oh boy. Someone isn't familiar with the concept of a "repost." Circle Ansuz is the author of the posts in question. We just added our own comments. Ridiculous arguments? You mean evidence backed up by comprehensive citations and sources? Dear me, must be that whole "reality has a liberal bias" thing again. Drat!

first both posts begin with images of Nazi symbolism a cheap stunt to shock and horrify their readers ,

And this person can't read a caption either. I mean, if someone makes a post about subject X, then posts a picture of subject X and adds a caption referencing subject X, they certainly must be completely unrelated and only posted for shock value. If it walks like a duck and talks like a duck— well, it must be a refrigerator.

second they attempt to use arrogance and "logic" to argue against the theory of meta genetics and genetic memory here is one example when referring to another article they posted the link to "Details McNallen's goofy theories on why the souls of white people are incompatible with people of other races, as if they are distinct species"

Wait! That's point two? You mean that complaining about the fact that you can't understand how an old cult obsessed with racial spiritualism is related to a new cult obsessed with racial spiritualism constitutes "point one?" This is the type of mental athlete that the AFA sports as its champions? Sigh.

But why did you leave off the bit about how McNallen was an ardent, foaming supporter of South African death squads? Are you ashamed of your cult leader's past? Tsk tsk, such disobedience means you'll get half your serving of gruel for dinner! But enough of that— is there any actual refutation of what Circle Ansuz laid out? You know, any proof that Steven McNallen didn't actually say those things that he actually said? No? This isn't a refutation or a rebuttal, this is you being dense.

and another " he quite literally believes that the souls of different races are as incompatible as an Allen wrench to a flat-head screw"

Yes, that's right, that's the whole concept of "aryans" not being able to be reincarnated as "non aryans." Where's the rebuttal or refutation?

you can not argue against a religious belief you either believe in or you don't (I think human history should have taught us that by now)

Uh, no.

Wait, what? I can't even parse this properly. Do you mean to say that it is not possible to argue against a religious belief that you do or do not believe in, or do you mean to say that arguing against a religious belief is impossible in and of itself? In either case, there are millennia of atheist philosophers who stridently disagree. Lest I be penalized for engaging in a straw-man argument, I'll take your argument as written: How did history prove that it is impossible to argue against a religious belief? You have never actually provided any evidence to support this claim. Of course, this whole statement is preposterous— any subject can be argued. Refusing to accept the existence of those arguments doesn't make them go away, it weakens your own position to a point where the only thing propping up your tissue of lies is the blind fervor of your adherents. Force is no substitute for intellect. This head-in-the-sand approach seems to be pretty typical of AFA apologists.

and sounding condensed to get people to agree with you is a older cheat stunt then propaganda.

Did you mean “condescending?” We only do that because it's funny to laugh at people who are so desperately trying to push half-baked racist puffery about how non-whites are genetically incapable of being as spiritually “advanced” as “pure whites.” If there's anyone more deserving of mockery and derision than the people trying to build a new Thule Society, it's the people who act as feeble apologists for these crackpots. People like you.

third if different races evolved to look differently then why would they not be spiritual different as well (see doesn't sound so goofy does it?)

This makes as much sense as the idiotic creationist trope of “if man evolved from monkeys, why are there still monkeys?” You're making a straw man argument. There are spiritual differences between cultures, and there are significant similarities— but this isn't the position of the AFA, and you know that. The position of the AFA is that non-whites are incompatible with “white spirituality.” This isn't a question of whether or not different cultures have different religious practices, we're talking about how the AFA perpetuates the notion that Europeans have a homogenous monoculture through the asinine theory that “white” people are genetically and spiritually incompatible with other races— as if we're talking about dogs and fish interbreeding. The mixed race female cosplayers on your facebook page can attest to the fallacy of your position.

fourth they make many other bigoted comments against us

“Waah, someone’s being mean to me on the internet! I’m going to call them a bigot because it sounds good even though I have no idea what the word actually means!” Have we or Circle Ansuz ever made any derogatory statements about heathens, pagans or non-christian religions? Of course not. We make derogatory statements about racist piles of shit who are trying to legitimize their backwards, paranoid and intellectually bankrupt desires for race wars under the guise of spirituality, as if having a minority religious belief is a magical shield against criticism. It’s not “bigotry” to point out that your spiritual leader thought that killing people for fun and profit was a jolly good idea, nor is it “hate speech” to expose links between someone trying to act squeaky clean and neo-nazi groups– these are things called “facts.” We’re sorry that you’re offended by the ugly truth.

like this one “every time we’ve probed this disturbing tendency within the pagan scene, we’ve hit brick walls, hostility or half-assed weasel-worded apologies and excuses. The most common excuse we’ve heard was the “in the spirit of Frith, we don’t speak ill of our brothers and sisters in the heathen community.” Excuse me? There’s a loathsome, glad-handing, grinning creature wriggling under the skin of your community and you claim you’re either unwilling or unable to talk about his batshit-crazy racial theories because it will upset people? To niflhel with that garbage.”

This isn’t what “bigoted” means.

FRITH IS MUCH MORE THEN NOT WANTING TO “UPSET PEOPLE” IT IS ABOUT LOYALTY TO OUR FOLK DO NOT CALL OUR BELIEFS HALF ASSED WEASEL WORDS OR GARBAGE.

So “loyalty to your folk” means apologizing for and covering up a racist scam artist? It means crushing dissent and flinging the terms “racist” and “bigot” at anyone who dares question your litany of deceit? It means unquestioningly swallowing demonstrable hogwash in the mistaken belief that ideological purity and subservience to a deranged fool with a Napoleon complex is the path to spiritual liberation? Hey man, if you don’t want people classifying your dearly held beliefs as a bunch of racist garbage, it might help for you to, you know, distance yourself from racist garbage.

Unless you actually are a racist pile of shit– in which case you should stop being such a vile coward and admit it. At least the goose-stepping idiots with uniform fetishes are proud to admit that they're racist buffoons.

these are hate filled arguments and false claims of racism against us another example when they refer to the AFA and steve as and i quote "the cancerous sludge known as the Asatru Folk Assembly and McNallen himself" in conclusion this is just hate speech if you want to learn about the AFA go to rune stone.com

Kyle Hunt; Leader of the White Man March RESIGNS!!!

KYLE HUNT'S 15 MINUTES ARE UP!

Maybe it was all the attention from the media. Maybe his own white power cult zombies didn't trust him. Maybe, just maybe it's because he is a basement dweller in his wealthy parents' Mashpee, Massachusetts home, and one of his parents might have a prominent career— like ... maybe ... a doctor? (Hmmmmm?)

The list of speculations is endless, but what we do know is that Kyle Hunt's "White Man March" site is gone; it redirects to an even more lame and ineffective site. Hence, the public might be spared from Kyle's whining hodgepodge of blathering gibberish— but fear not, we found the cache!

This is the END!

Here is the full text of Kyle's good-bye letter.

We know we are not the first to report on this— David Neiwart wrote this up for the SPLC yesterday.

Does this also mean the end of his radio show: “Renegade”? (how much of a “renegade” can you be if you’re a rich son of a prominent professional?)

Will this be the last we see of this trust-fund Nazi? We’re sure that the twelve people who participated in the “white man march” are crushed.

Ron Doggett’s Easter Egg Surprise?

Ron Dogget’s Easter Egg Surprise

Over Easter, multiple news outlets reported that plastic Easter eggs with racist, white supremacist messages inside them were found scattered around Henrico county, Virginia. Bearing the messages “diveristy = white genocide” and slogans supporting the abortive “white man march,” these eggs were found by various families during their Easter Egg Hunts.

For the geographically unaware, Henrico county surrounds the state capitol of Richmond. So, we asked ourselves “which white supremacists in the Richmond area are associated with the “white man march?”

Ron Doggett's White Man March

A picture says a thousand words, as they say.

But wait, there's more. Our speculations were confirmed by Doggett himself claiming he was going to do it, and "spread them around central Virginia."

The full thread of Ron's admission, in case Stormfront deletes the thread

Lest you think this is the work of just another creepy, harmless crank, please take extra special care to note that Ron Doggett was (and probably still is) a close personal friend of Frazier Glenn "Rounder" Miller, the Overland Park, Kansas, shooter.

UPDATE!!! Our comrade SPLUNKER has also written a good article on this with even more goodies to share!!! Ron Doggett and Robert Ransdell leave "Pro-White" Easter eggs, children find them, and Brad Griffin calls it a "Good idea"
