You are not living on 'Stolen Land'
The vast majority of land in the U.S. was not occupied by Native Americans at the time of colonization. Their total population was likely less than 4 million, even before the epidemics of the 16th and 17th centuries.

For Thanksgiving, remember that the main contribution Native Americans made to the United States was not corn or this day, but every last acre of land. The displacement of Native nations of all that land which earned back with the "Pilgrims" never stopped and continues ongoing.

Two maps of the United States showing the distribution of Native American populations in 1600 and 1700. The 1600 map shows a high concentration of populations in the Northeast and Southeast, while the 1700 map shows a significant reduction in population, particularly in the Northeast.

Reminder that although it's funny to dunk on the feather indians, stolen land is a myth and most of the land wasn't occupied by tribes at the time of settlement.

In our research we found several selfies posted by Kevin / Fedposter. An image of himself wearing a white hoodie with a lacrosse logo was posted twice from different Twitter accounts @chadhiker & @NeverFedPosts.

In the expanded image of the white hoodie a logo is partially visible. A search found a very similar logo for the Cherokee Trail HS Mens Lacrosse Team.

In this photo from the Cherokee Trails HS Mens Lacrosse Team FB page, Patryck is wearing the same hoodie that Fedposter posted twice from different Twitter accounts @chadhiker &

@NeverFedPosts

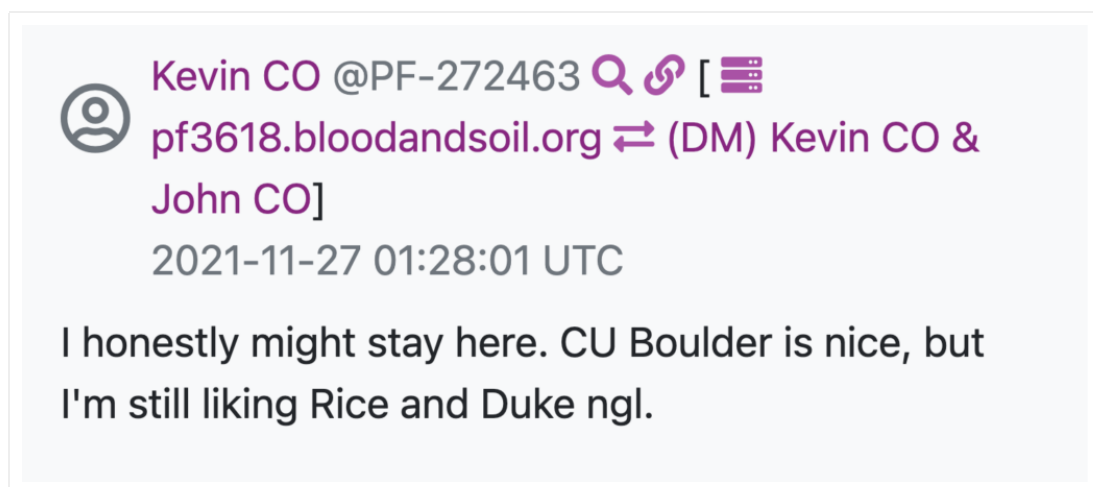

The HS Mens Lacrosse Team Facebook page lists player Patryck Durham who is planning on going to Duke University. This matches comments from both Kevin CO and Fedposter.

Tanya Durham (MBA 2019)

I was a UH-1N "HUEY" helicopter pilot in the United States Marine Corps (USMC), serving 10 years active duty. My husband, Patryck Durham, was an infantry officer in the USMC, serving 22 years active duty. I joined the USMC because I wanted to serve my country and because I was impressed with the character and qualities of the former Marines I worked with in my previous job as a police officer with the Los Angeles Police Department.
